Subject Re: Question about Circulars............

History: This message has been replied to.

Circulars or as they were usually called "Letters Circular" were used to issued and modify regulations, transmit policy (now we use Instruction Manuals), and to announce the addition or removal of major programs (today we use the Federal Register). They were serialized and dated to avoid confusion in the Districts of the General Land Office. The significant Letters Circular were published in the LDs and IDs until 1939, when the first CFR was published. DOI continued to use "Circulars" until the 1990s, but this was a historical anachroism, not being necessary since the time that the CFR and the Federal Register came into being. There is a "cross walk" table in the 1839 CFR showing which Letters Circular were incorporated into the CFR and where they were codified. Not all Letters were carried over.

We hope to have the website on line by mid-January. We are down to electronic issues at this point with NBC. The usual effort of getting one software package talking to another package. Merry Christmas!!!

Subject Question about Circulars............

Hello, Roger! Figured I'd get one more email in before the end of the year.........if you are still in?

I'm looking for a write-up as to what the General Land Office, then BLM, used CIRCULARS for.
In CIRCULARS AND REGULATIONS OF THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE, compiled by C.G. Fisher and published January 1930, there is a 'General Statement' in the front of the book stating what is and is not included in the book, but not what they ARE or what they were FOR.
It appears they were to transmit changes to the regulations to the GLO/BLM offices before the Code of Regulations appeared circa 1936. The last one we found was in 1996 -- did they stop and why?
And, last but not least, will they be incorporated into your new website? [which will be up when?]

Thanks as always for your astute insights, and have a wonderful holiday season and

FINDING "CIRCULARS" PUBLISHED BY THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE AND THE BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT RELATING TO THE PUBLIC LAND LAWS AND MANAGEMENT OF THE PUBLIC LANDS AND RESOURCES

"CIRCULARS" as used in the General Land Office and the Bureau of Land Management

Webster: Intended for circulation among a number of people; addressed to persons having a common interest; as, a circular letter"
"Circular; "a letter, advertisement, etc., usually printed in quantities, intended for circulation"

Material that became "Circulars" could derive from local land office, General Land Office, or Department of the Interior decisions or instructions made on specific cases –homesteads, sales, etc., that had been appealed to the Department of the Interior from local land office or General Land Office decisions;

Or from written instructions and procedures implementing new laws enacted by the Congress, somewhat equivalent to Proposed or Final Rulemaking published in the Federal Register currently used to implement new laws;

Or written instructions, opinions, procedures covering a wide range of administrative matters within the General Land Office's various divisions in Washington, D.C. and its local land offices in the public land states. If the circular pertained to procedures for, say, obtaining a homestead on the public lands, it was printed in quantity and distributed to offices that had daily contact with the public seeking such information at the local land office counter, or by mail. These printed copies served as handouts for easy response to these inquiries.

Use of the term is traceable back at least to 1826; in documents generated by the General Land Office in conducting its business. These "Circulars" or instructions appear in volumes entitled "Public Lands, Laws, Instructions and Opinions." These "Circulars" probably were not numbered.

These "Public Lands" volumes seem to have been discontinued about 1881 when the Department of the Interior began its numbered volumes of "Land Decisions" (LDs) or "Department of the Interior - Decisions Relating to the Public Lands." Periodically, these LDs were abstracted into "Digest of Decisions of the Department of the Interior Relating to Public Lands" consisting of separate bound volumes Part 1 and Part 2.

This second part contains a "Table of Circulars and Instructions" listing year of document, topic, and volume and page of LD volume in which it is found, thus providing a list from 1881 to 1924 (LDs from Volume 1 (1881) to Volume 50 (1924). The tabulation does not distinguish between "Circular" and "Instruction." This compilation was not continued in subsequent Digests, however, the later Digests contain a "Table of Circulars and Instructions Cited" which may be useful in tracking a "Circular"

The text of "Circulars" may occasionally be found in the annual report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office to the Secretary of the Interior.

In 1930, the General Land Office published ""Circulars and Regulations of the General Land Office, with Reference Tables and Index." This volume contains topical "Circular" and other guidance in effect at the time of publication, dealing with most facets of the General Land

Aki,

When the Federal Register started, circulars should be found there. Before then it can be hit and miss. The "red book" by Fisher entitled "Circulars and Regulations of the General Land Office" has most in effect in 1930. There is also a book of circulars dating to about 1907 in your collection that have most for the time period.

Many are in the Land Decisions, but not all by a long shot. One has to search many places at the National Archives to find all the circulars. Also, many "instructions" were never put forth as a circular, which complicates matters. All you can reasonably do is handle each request as it comes in, and yes, you need to know the subject, and if possible, the date. I wish there was a better answer.

Subject: Greetings from BLM Library

Jim: Thanks for your telephone call about locating House/Senate reports on the Small Tract Act. Still waiting to hear form Fusick. Joan ordering reports Interlibrary Loan. We think the reports are from the 75th Congress.

Next question please. Barb C. would like to know about Circulars. Can I find all the OLD circulars in the GLO, the Secretary of Interior Decisions and blue books [Reports to ??}. . Are circulars from 1936 to present found in the Federal Register? I think I need to know the subject matter to identify a Circular notice.

Any help would be appreciated at your convenience.

How to List BLM Circulars in the Database

Where to Find the Circulars When Using: Circulars and Regulations of the General Land Office Book.

1) Look on Pages 1595 - 1600 for: NUMERICAL TABLE OF CIRCULARS AND REGULATIONS

-There you will find a the list of circulars that are located throughout the book.

2) To locate the circular number, after you have found what page the circular is on.

Example

- You would like to find circular 11, you would first go to page 1595 in "Circulars and Regulations of the General Land Office Book.", there you will find that circular 11 is located on page 1085.

- On page 1085 you will see: Circular No.11
- The title of the circular is directly under the Circular No.

Where to Find the Circulars When Using: Land Service Bulletin Volumes 1-14

1) To locate where the circulars are throughout the book turn to the table of contents.

2) The table of contents lists where a majority of the circulars are located throughout that particular volume.

NOTE! THE TABLE OF CONTENTS DOES NOT LIST ALL THE CIRCULARS THAT ARE LOCATED IN THAT PARTICULAR VOLUME.

Where to Find the Circulars When Using: The Black Binders Located in BLM Library

1) On the spine of the black binders you will find what circulars are contained within that binder.

2) The circular number is located at the top of each page with the title either underneath the circular number or in bold print near the top of the page.

Citing Circular Locations from the Books that the Circular is Located in:

When entering circular data, to cite the location from which the circular was found use the following format examples:

Example 1 CFR (Code of Federal Regulations)

1) Code of Federal Regulations Title 43 - Chapter 1

2) Code of Federal Regulations Title 43 - Chapter 1 - Subchapter S - Rights-of-Way

3) Code of Federal Regulations Title 43, Part: 105

Example 2 Land Service Bulletin Volumes 1-14

1) Land Service Bulletin V.6 Section 2 Page 25

2) Land Service Bulletin V.6 Section 1 Page 20, V.4 Section 9 Page 17, V.3 Section 8 Page 28

3) Land Service Bulletin V.3 Page 26

Example 3 Circulars and Regulations of the General Land Office

1) Circulars and Regulations of the General Land Office Page 1442

Step One

Locate circular source/location

Step Two

Find circular listing within the source/location

Step Three

Enter circular number (in Excel) in far left column

Step Four

Locate and enter title of circular in right row (column next to the circular number column)

Step Five

In the row under the title row enter either date circular was made or approved

Examples: Dated: October 14, 1942
Approved: November 5, 1921
Published: August 6, 1976
Reprint: July 26, 1976

Step Six

Enter the status of the circular underneath the date. Sometimes there is no status available on that particular circular, so you may no need to have a status row at all (The status of the circular is either handwritten on the circular itself, or located at the very bottom of the circular itself)

Examples: Status: This Circular is Amended by Circular 22
Status: Replaced by Circular 34
Status: Amended by Circular 25
Status: Obsolete

Step Seven

Enter CFR code, if it is located on the circular

Example: Code of Federal Regulations Title 43 - Chapter 1

Code of Federal Regulations Title 43 - Chapter 1 - Subchapter S - Rights-of-Way

Code of Federal Regulations Title 43, Part: 105

Step Eight

Cite Source where the circular was found

Examples: Land Service Bulletin V.6 Section 1 Page 20
